DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed July 20, 2005 which amended claim 10 to depend from claim 1, has overcome the restriction. Claims 1-18 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 5, 6, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 5 and 14 are indefinite in that it is not clear what the term "arranged on every column" means.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-3, 5-7, 9, 10-12, 14-16, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tsuchiya et al, US Patent 6,890,385 B2.

Tsuchiya et al teaches a mask having a first substrate 114 with a plurality of first via holes 123 and a thickness of 30 μ m; a second substrate 113A with a plurality of via holes 121A and thickness of 50 μ m; a third substrate 112B with a plurality of via holes 165. The via holes are stripes and overlap each other. The third via holes are larger than the second via holes, and the second via holes are larger than the first via holes. A bridge is formed on the first substrate between adjacent first via holes and across the second via hole. (Entire document , specifically, Figure 15)

5. Applicant cannot rely upon the foreign priority papers to overcome this rejection because a translation of said papers has not been made of record in accordance with 37 CFR 1.55. See MPEP § 201.15.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 4, 8, 13, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsuchiya et al, US Patent 6,890,385 B2.

Tsuchiya et al was discussed above.

Tsuchiya et al differs from the present invention in that Tsuchiya does not teach a specific diametric difference or the thickness of the bridges.

The motivation to optimize the size of the vias and bridges is to form the desired patterns of the desired size on the substrate. Furthermore, it was held in Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), by the Federal Circuit that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device. (Also see MPEP 2144.04 (d)) The vias and bridges of Tsuchiya et al, sized to that of the claimed invention, would be identical to the via and bridges of the claimed invention.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to optimize the size of the diameter and bridges of Tsuchiya et al.

8. Applicant cannot rely upon the foreign priority papers to overcome this rejection because a translation of said papers has not been made of record in accordance with 37 CFR 1.55. See MPEP § 201.15.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited art teaches the technological background of the invention. The Examiner notes that the two references cited in the IDS of July 18, 2005 are directed to shadow masks for cathode ray tubes. They have nothing to do with shadow masks for fabricating a flat display. One of ordinary skill in the art would not look in the cathode ray tube art to find a teachings of vapor deposition masks.
